[ultimate solution against mycotoxins]

Mycotoxins, a global concern, a fashionable subject!

The Wisium investigation starts on raw materials and ends in the animal. As every raw material can be a suspect for contamination, our 360° approach includes quality control plan, sampling, analysis, technical expertise and monitoring tools.

Our state of the art services approach linked to our high technical and large scale range of T5X products, is the insurance of your performance.

1

Raw materials quality control

Mycotoxin contamination is not predictable. Contamination knowledge is mandatory.

Quality control plan

Raw material sourcing and analytical plan

Sampling

Relevant sample for a relevant analysis

Analysis

The most complete chemical or the quickest analysis

Knowing contamination to evaluate YOUR problem

2

Expertise

Mycotoxins strongly impact animals performance. Contaminations are complex, species specific and acting in synergies with external factors. In order to take up this challenge the zootechnical and specific mycotoxins knowledge is mandatory.

Mycotoxins expertise: contamination interpretation, monitoring and product recommendations

Zootechnical expertise: specific knowledge on species, physiological stages and animal synergies

Multi-expertise to build YOUR accurate solution

3

Products
